I'd recommend leaving your solar alone, and retrofitting a battery system designed for AC-coupling. On One Phase Of A Three-Phase Home: You can use a Powerwall 3 on one phase of a three-phase home, but it comes with limitations. You can only back up the phase the PW3 is on, and your solar won't work during grid outages if you have a 3-phase

1 ? I have three Victron MP2 installed to 3-phase system and three Pylontech US5000 battery. System works well about half of year, but now system give low battery alarm almost every day. I use dynamic ESS and max discharge power is 3500W and SOC low limit is set to 20%. What could be the problem? I have got low battery alarm sometimes at summer too, but ???

@MARSH_8195 The answer is no, the Enphase battery system can't support a 3-phase load like a heat pump during a grid outage.. Even though the System Controller 3 can now support a battery on each phase, and these will all operate during an outage, the three phases will not be synchronised 120 degrees apart the way the grid is and the way a 3-phase motor requires.
