

IS THE NATIONAL ENERGY STORAGE GRID A STATE-OWNED ENTERPRISE OR A PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

What is a state-owned energy enterprise? The state-owned energy enterprise, in essence, is a kind of contractual arrangement. In order to maximize national interests, the state delegates executives to operate business in the energy sector by combining energy resources with other resources through a series of contracts.

Would a national energy grid be cost-effective? A massive new study confirms that a national energy grid would pay for itself. Currently, the US does not have a single national energy grid but instead has three separate grids: the Eastern Interconnection, ERCOT (a Texas grid), and the Western Interconnection. Though there are a few small ties between them, very little energy is exchanged.

How does China's decarbonization policy affect energy storage? China's decarbonization policy has already created pressure on state-owned enterprises mandating energy storage with the order to build renewables-plus-storage projects introduced for the very first time by the NEA last April.

Will SGCC have 100GW of battery storage by 2030? SGCC Chairman Xin Baoan said Wednesday in a commentary published in the state-owned People's Daily that SGCC aims to have 100GW of battery storage by 2030, up from 3GW today. This is a very ambitious goal, given that BloombergNEF forecasts that all of China will have about 96GW of battery storage by 2030.

What does NDRC & NEA mean for compressed air storage? In addition, the fifteenth five-year plan drafted by the National Development and Reform Commission (NDRC) and the National Energy Administration (NEA) gives special attention to compressed air storage and envisages that this technology will realize engineering applications in units of 100MW.

Will SGCC increase its pumped storage capacity by 2030? But SGCC's plans don't end only with battery storage, the grid operator is also planning to increase its pumped storage capacity from the current 26.3GW to 100GW by 2030. This builds on its announcement in January when it said it had commissioned the world's largest pumped-hydro facility.
