Meanwhile, the conflict in neighbouring Sudan continues to exacerbate such challenges. South Sudan has received over 830,000 refugees and returnees since the war erupted in April 2023 ??? equivalent to over seven per cent of its population. This comes amid rising hunger and a cholera outbreak that began at the northern border with cases

1 ? South Sudan's bad times started soon after independence. In 2013 civil war broke out between the two main ethnic groups, costing perhaps 400,000 lives and forcing around a third ???

Background. South Sudan, which gained independence from Sudan on 9 July 2011, is the world's newest country. Home to a diverse array of mainly Nilotic ethnolinguistic groups that settled in the territory in the fifteenth through nineteenth centuries, South Sudanese society is heavily dependent on seasonal fluctuations in precipitation and seasonal migration.

Officially known as the Republic of South Sudan, this East-Central African country gained independence from Sudan in 2011 after a long struggle, becoming the UN's 193rd member state. With a population of around 11 million, South Sudan is a diverse nation with over 60 indigenous ethnic groups, the largest being the Dinka, Nuer and Azande.

2 ? Most of the Biden administration's key players ??? Secretary of State Antony Blinken, National Security Advisor Jake Sullivan, USAID Administrator Samantha Power, and Deputy National Security Advisor Jon Finer ??? were part of the team that helped oversee the birth of South Sudan as a new nation, full of hope, under President Barack Obama's administration in 2011.

Sudans Post is an independent, young, and grass roots news media organization aimed at providing readers with an alternate depiction of events that occur on Sudan, South Sudan and East Africa, and to establish an engaging social platform for readers to discover and discuss the various issues that impact the two countries and the region.

The investment would enable Durapower meanwhile to scale up its operations: scaling up production capacity in China, accelerating the setup of new assembly plants in Thailand and in Poland. Aiming to create localised supply chains and a diversified manufacturing base, Durapower's goal is to reach about 4GWh annual production capacity by 2025.
